

OFFICIAL LIST OF THE BIRDS OF TENNESSEE

Updated: December 2024

The Official List of the Birds of Tennessee is compiled by the Tennessee Bird Records Committee. The sequence and nomenclature follow the American Ornithological Society's (AOS) Check-list of North and Middle American Birds.

The checklist includes 434 species that have been recorded in the state of Tennessee and are deemed to be naturally occurring, established or introduced species. Each species is assigned a status code according to the recent relative frequency with which it is recorded in the state. These status codes are defined as follows:

Regular – expected to occur every year in appropriate season and habitat;

Casual – occurs with some frequency but not every year;

Accidental – very rare and unpredictable vagrant;

Extirpated – no longer occurs within the state;

eXtinct – no longer occurs anywhere; and

Provisional – less than 3 accepted records within the state without photographs or a specimen.

* - designates breeding records within the state.
